

MATERIAL QUALITY STATEMENT

The material we supply is tested by the relevant manufacturer and conforms to that manufacturer's current, published technical specifications, which are available from our website www.warrenboard.co.uk

We do not knowingly receive or supply material that falls outside industry or manufacturer specification or tolerance unless by specific prior agreement with a supplier, in which case we inform customers and agree specification or tolerance changes with them prior to supplying the material.

This applies to all the material we supply, whether from our own stock or direct to the customer from the manufacturing source. However, no assurance can be given should our customers employ a third party to carry out further processing of the material.
